

Author of Song "Dolly Gray" Dies Blind, Insane and Poor In Hospital on Ward's Island

Paul Barnes, After Glittering Broadway Career, Lost Fortune, and Actress-Wife Started Boarding House.

Paul Barnes, composer of "Goodbye, Dolly Gray," the battle chant of American soldiers and sailors in the war against Spain, died May 3 in Manhattan State Hospital, Ward's Island—insane, blind and a pauper.

Remember the words?
I have come to say goodbye, Dolly Gray.
It's no use to ask me why, Dolly Gray.
There's a murmur in the air.
You can hear it everywhere—
It is time to do and dare, Dolly Gray.
Don't you hear the tramp of feet, Dolly Gray.

Goodbye, Dolly, I must leave you.
Though it breaks my heart to go.
Something tells me I am needed
At the front to fight the foe.
See the boys in blue are marching.
And I can no longer stay.
Hark! I hear the bugle calling—
Goodbye, Dolly Gray.

That was the "Tipperrary" of '98,
but it is not the only song of Paul Barnes that the world sang and whistled and hurdy-gurded. Among fifty are: "Josephine, My Joe," "Down by the Riverside," "Dreaming," "Venetian Moon" and "Mammy Jenny's Lullaby." As one of the forerunners of Tinpan Alley, Barnes had several compositions that he credited to even forgetful Broadway members.

One day in the nineties he met Dan Daly, a famous variety actor, on Broadway. Daly said he was in desperate need of a catchy song. Several composers, he said, had offered their services, but he had dismissed each of them with "You won't do."

Barnes told Daly to walk on without speaking. In the walk from 26th Street to 14th Street he composed a song that Daly made famous, and its name was "You Won't Do." But

PEASANT CONGRESS ISSUES ORDERS

Bulgarian "Soviet" Tells King He Is Not Constitutional Monarch.

SOPIA, June 1 (Associated Press).—The Peasants' Congress, which has been in session here several days, has adjourned, after approving the course of Premier Stamboulsky, appealing to the League of Nations to give Bulgaria an outlet to the sea and warning the Bourgeoisie to stop the Government.

In its attitude the congress assumed the aspect of a species of Soviet, giving orders to the Agrarian Parliament group to reject the reparations project and prevent the Allied Reparations Commission from interfering with Bulgarian sovereignty.

King Boris was admonished by the Congress to remain a constitutional monarch and not to attempt to usurp the power the Agrarian Party asserts it possesses.

BULGARIAN KING PALACE GARDENER AS PEASANTS RULE

Princesses in Kitchen, He Says—All Must Work Nowadays.

SOPIA, June 1.
King Boris of Bulgaria has become his own gardener. He may be seen any day at the palace grounds, spade in hand and dressed in an old linen duster, vigorously digging potatoes or planting cabbages and turnips.

He believes the time has come when Kings must be something more than mere constitutional figureheads.

"In our country," said the young sovereign, "every one must work. Our policy is one of productivity. Even my sisters (Princess Eudoxia and Princess Nadejda) are doing their share. You will find them in the kitchen."

Their money was going fast on in-hospital Broadway so they bought a cottage at Weir, N. H., where Mrs. Barnes supported the two by keeping summer boarders. Paul developed pneumonia two years ago. He wandered away a year ago, and when he turned up in St. Louis, Mrs. Barnes mortgaged the cottage and had him brought to New York, where, by establishing residence here, she was permitted to have him sent to the free State asylum on Ward's Island. Until a short time before his death his wife visited him daily, though he could not recognize her. From what remained of the mortgage money she took him a pint of ice cream daily. She left town two weeks before his death to reopen her boarding house. It is understood the Masonic order and the National Vaudeville Artists paid $1 a week to the asylum for little comforts for him.

Paul Barnes' real name was George F. Feger. He was fifty-two.
